Who We Are

GQR, established in 2009, stands as a global authority in strategic talent solutions, employing over 300 professionals across offices in London, New York, Austin, and Sydney. As a versatile provider, our offerings span search, contract staffing, strategic advisory, talent consultancy, embedded support, and comprehensive workforce solutions like RPO and VMS.

This breadth allows individuals and small businesses to harness the advantages of scale, supported by a technologically advanced and operationally efficient platform.

Our mission centers on empowering entrepreneurs and driving growth for individual recruiters. By leveraging a collaborative environment, we connect you with top talent and clients while providing access to state-of-the-art technology, an extensive network, and enduring support through leadership, mentorship, and robust Learning & Development resources.

Our Solutions

Through a flexible and robust service suite—encompassing search, staffing, strategic advisory, and end-to-end workforce solutions—GQR equips organizations with the tools and insights necessary to align their workforce strategies with their broader business objectives.
